UKRAINE

Ukraine, a republic in Eastern Europe, is bounded on the north by Belarus and Russia; on the east by Russia; on the south by the Black Sea and the Sea of Azov; on the southwest by Romania and Moldova; and on the west by Hungary, Slovakia and Poland.

With a total area of about 603,700 square kilometres, Ukraine is the second largest country in Europe after Russia. Kyiv is the capital and the largest city.

Almost the entire country of Ukraine is a vast flat plain, with elevations generally below 300 metres. The Carpathian Mountains intrude at the extreme west, and on the southern coast of the Crimean Peninsula are the Crimean Mountains. The highest point in Ukraine is Mount Hoverla in the Carpathians, with an elevation of 2,061 metres. Most major rivers flow south to the Black Sea. the Dnieper courses through the country for 1,204 kilometres. Other major rivers include the Dniester, Donets, Bug, and Danube. The Danube is an important water route linking the country with many European countries. There are many lakes throughout Ukraine. Lake Svytiaz, one of the largest natural lakes, has an area of 28 square kilometres. Ukraine has extremely fertile black-earth soils in the central and southern portions, totaling nearly two-thirds of the territory.

The climate of Ukraine is temperate continental, with a long summer and a short winter. The southern shores of the Crimea have a warm Mediterranean-type climate. Precipitation generally decreases from north to south; it is greatest in the Carpathians and least in the coastal lowlands of the Black Sea.

Ukraine is the second most populous country of the former USSR; only Russia has more people. Ukraine has a population of about 45,700,000 people. Average population density is 82 people per sq km. Settlement are densest in the far eastern and western regions. Around 67 percent of population inhabits urban areas. Population growth is relatively low. Ukrainians constitute 72 per cent and Russians constitute 22 per cent. Other minorities include Belarussians, Moldovans, Hungarians, Bulgarians and Crimean Tatars.

Ukraine is richly supplied with mineral resources, with many important deposits grouped closely together. Coal is Ukraine's most abundant and heavily exploited mineral resource. Large iron ore deposits are located in the southeast, near the bituminous coal and anthracite deposits of the Donets Basin, the famous Donbas fields. The Nikopol region boasts one of the world's richest concentrations of manganese ores. There are also commercial deposits of titanium ores, bauxite, mercury ores, mineral salts and sulphur.

Ukraine's economy is highly industrialized. Industry contributes more than 40 per cent of total net material product and accounts for more than one-quarter of total employment. Industry is based largely on the republic's vast mineral resources. Ukraine is the fourth largest steel producer in the world, and has a broad and diverse industrial base. However, economic policy since the world economic and financial crisis has had serious consequences for Ukraine's competitiveness. Agriculture accounts for about 30 per cent of total net material product and one-quarter of total employment. Ukraine is a major producer and exporter of a wide variety of agricultural products, including wheat and sugar beet, being the world's largest sugar beet producer. Other crops include potatoes, vegetables, fruit, sunflowers and flax. Animal husbandry is also important.

Ukraine is an independent democratic republic, as stated in the declaration of independence issued in August 1991. The head of state is president who is elected by a national ballot. The prime minister heads the council of ministers, which serves as the cabinet. Ukraine has the unicameral state legislature, the 450-member Supreme Council. Members are freely elected for a four-year term. The highest judicial court is the Supreme Court of five judges, elected for five-year terms by the legislature. At the regional level justice is administered by popularly elected "people's courts".

Kyiv

Ancient Kyiv is now the capital of Ukraine. Situated on the banks of the Dnieper River below its confluence with the Desna River, Kyiv is a major port and one of the largest and most important cities of Eastern Europe. Because of its many parks it is often called the "green city".

Kyiv has a moderately continental climate. January temperatures average -6°C. Snow covers the ground usually from mid-November to the end of March. Summers are warm, and July temperatures average 19°C.

The city's favourable location has made it a major junction of railroads, highways and air routes. Kyiv, as the capital city, has major administrative functions. It is also an important industrial centre with a diverse economy. The principal industries are machine building and metalworking. Kyiv is also a major publishing centre.

The surviving historical and architectural monuments are most prominent in the ancient Upper Town. The Cathedral of St. Sophia, completed in 1037 and reconstructed in the 17th century, is decorated with frescoes and mosaics in its interior. Much of the Kyiv-Pechery Lavra monastery, built during the 11th century, was destroyed during World War II. Now a museum, it is also still in use as a monastery. This striking building is the most holy place in Ukraine. The caves on the property serve as burial grounds for monks. Nearby is the main thoroughfare, Khreshchatyk. Another Kyiv's oldest and most beloved streets Andrew's Descent has been the centre of city activity since ancient times. The steep and winding cobbled streets are the setting for outdoor concerts and festivals in the summer, and home to several art galleries selling traditional Ukrainian crafts. Mariyinsky Palace is a picturesque Baroque palace with a charming park around it on the hilly bank of the Dnieper River designed by Rastrelli and constructed in 1744. It is an official ceremonial residence of the President of Ukraine.

Kyiv is the cultural and academic centre of Ukraine. Research institutes, the National Scientific Library, the Central Botanical Garden and the Main Astronomical Observatory are located there. There are many government-funded museums in Kyiv. The most famous are the Natural History Museum, the Historical Museum, the National Art Museum and the Western and Eastern Art Museum. Pirogovo is an outdoor museum devoted to folk architecture and traditional village life in Ukraine.

Among many professional theatres in Kyiv the most magnificent is the National Opera House which stages world class ballets and operas. Kyiv has also been the centre of Ukrainian film and mass media. In 1928 the Dovzhenko Artistic Film Studio was founded there.

Many monuments have been erected in Kyiv's squares, parks and other public places. The oldest are the monuments to the Magdeburg law on the right bank of the Dnieper, St. Volodymyr in Volodymyr Hill Park and B. Khmelnytsky in St. Sophia Square. Most have been erected in honour Ukrainian political and scholarly figures and the heroes and victims of the wars and the Chernobyl accident.

TRADITIONAL HOLIDAYS IN UKRAINE, GREAT BRITAIN AND THE USA

Like most European nations Ukraine sees the New Year in on December, 31. You can hardly find a person who doesn't hope that the Old Year with all its troubles will leave forever and the New Year will bring health, prosperity and happiness.

New Year celebrations gradually glide into one of the most important religious holidays – Christmas. Now it is an official state holiday and a day off. It is favourite with children who like to go from door to door, sing carols and get sweets from the hosts. Mothers of the family cook a traditional Ukrainian Christmas dish «kutya» which all the family eat together. Many people now like to go to church to listen to Christmas sermons.

Not long ago young people and lovers of all ages started to follow the English tradition of celebrating St. Valentine's Day on February, 14 by sending special postcards and giving lovely gifts to their sweethearts.

The next official holiday in Ukrainian calendar is Women's Day. Very few people remember now how it originated, but it is an important signpost in the women's feminist movement in the world, because it commemorates the beginning of women's struggle for their economic, political and social rights. Today, it is the day to show love and respect to women of all ages.

By Orthodox canons Easter, the day of Christ's Resurrection, is celebrated in Ukraine later than in other European countries. Only several years ago it was proclaimed an official state holiday and many people celebrate it by attending the all-night service in church and having a tasty meal at home on Red Sunday. Children enjoy painting Easter eggs and eating Easter bread.

Victory Day which is annually marked on May, 9 commemorates the victory of Soviet people over Nazi Germany in 1945. So many people died or were killed in that war that there is hardly a family in Ukraine that didn't suffer a loss.

The new Constitution of Ukraine as an independent, sovereign, democratic, social and legal state was adopted by the Verkhovna Rada on June 28, 1996 as the Fundamental Law of the country. The day of its adoption is a state holiday - the Day of the Constitution of Ukraine.

August, 24 is a new national state holiday - the Day of Independence of Ukraine, which was pro¬claimed in 1991 on the decision of the Verkhovna Rada of Ukraine after the military coup in Moscow. This day is marked with parades and fireworks.

Most Ukrainian people enjoy holidays both old and new because they are good breaks in everyday work, an opportunity to see their friends and relatives and just to have a good time.

National Days in Britain are not celebrated to the same extent as in France or America. Scotland's National Day is St. Andrew's Day (30 November). St. David's Day (1 March) is the National Day of Wales. England National Day is St. George's Day (23 April) which coincides with William Shakespeare's birthday. St. Patrick's Day is an official Bank Holiday in Northern Ireland.

For many British people (with the exception of Scotsmen), Christmas is the favourite holiday. It is celebrated much earlier than in our country, on December, 25. Preparation for the holiday begins several weeks before it with sending dozens of cards, buying presents and food, decorating the Christmas tree and the house. The cities and towns are decorated with thousands of coloured lights, and the biggest Christmas tree in Britain is put up in Trafalgar Square in London.

In the homes there is a great air of expectation. Holly and mistletoe are hanging on the wall waiting for the English traditional kissing when a girl standing under these evergreen plants can't refuse being kissed. Mothers of the family are busy in the kitchen getting ready for the next day's dinner of turkey, pudding and other tasty things. Before going to bed children may hang Christmas stockings on their beds in the hope of getting presents from Father Christmas or Santa Claus. The next day, on December 26 people get up late, have big meals, go to church and have a good rest after the Christmas rush.

New Year in Britain (with the exception of Scotland) is not celebrated as widely as in our country. Some people may even completely ignore it and go to bed at the usual time without waiting for the clock to strike twelve.

In Scotland New Year is called Hogmanay and is the most favourite holiday of the year. It begins with a thorough cleaning of the house and cooking plenty of tasty food. Though February is a winter month, many British people start feeling spring on February, 14 when they get Valentine cards and symbolic love gifts.

Pancake Day is the popular name for Shrove Tuesday, the eve of the Lenten fast. In medieval times all Christians made their compulsory confessions or «shifts» from which the words «Shrove Tuesday» derives. Nowadays only pancake eating has remained.

Easter in Britain is the time of giving and receiving presents which traditionally take the form of Easter eggs and hot cross buns. Nowadays eggs are usually made of chocolate with surprises in them, but the old custom is dying and painting eggs is still, kept in some country districts. Other emblems of Easter are fluffy little chicks, the Easter Bunny and spring flowers.

April Fools' Day is not an official holiday but few people are indifferent to it. Everyone who has a sense of humor likes to play practical jokes on their friends and family neighbors.

Bank Holidays are public holidays called so because the banks as well as most offices and shops are closed. There are winter, spring and summer Bank Holidays.

Another popular holiday in Britain is Guy Fawkes Day, which commemorates the discovery of the so-called Gunpowder Plot, a conspiracy to destroy the English Houses of Parliament and King James I on November, 5 1605. It is usually marked with bonfires and dummies of Guy Fawkes.

Each of the fifty states in the USA establishes their own legal holidays. The federal government, through the President and Congress, can legally set holidays only for federal employees and for the District of Columbia. Most states however accept the federal legal holidays which are: New Year's Day, Martin Luther King's Day, Washington's Birthday, now called «President's Day» (the third Monday in February), Memorial Day (last Monday in May), Independence Day, Labor Day (first Monday in September), Columbus Day, Veterans' Day (November, 11th), Thanksgiving Day and Christmas.

There are many other traditional holidays, observed by a large number of Americans, which are neither legal nor official. Among these are Valentine's Day, St. Patrick's Day (not just people with Irish ancestry will «wear the green» on March 17th), Mother's Day and Halloween.

Perhaps the two «most American» of the holidays are the Fourth of July- Independence Day, and Thanksgiving. The first one is like a big nationwide birthday party. Some towns and cities have parades with bands and flags, and most politicians will try to give a patriotic speech. But what makes this holiday special is the atmosphere and enjoyment of, for instance, the family picnic with hot dogs, hamburgers and volleyball, fireworks and rockets at night

Like Christmas, Thanksgiving is a day for families to come together. Traditional foods are prepared for the feast-turkey or ham, cranberry sauce, bread rolls and pumpkin pie. At the same time Thanksgiv¬ing is a solemn occasion, a day to remember the many who are less well off, in America and throughout the world.

HIGHER EDUCATION IN UKRAINE

Higher education is generally recognized as preparing individuals to realize more fully their human potential, enrich their understanding of life and make them more productive to society.

Future specialists in various fields of science, technology, economies and art get a fundamental general and specialized training, all students regardless of their specialty study foreign languages.

Apart from educational work and schooling Ukrainian higher schools carry out a great deal of scientific work in all branches of knowledge. They have either a students' research Society (Club) or a Technological Design Bureau which provide excellent facilities for young researches.

Our country needs specialists in all fields of science and all branches of industry and agriculture. Institutes exist not only in big cities like Kyiv, Kharkiv, Lviv, but in many towns of Ukraine like Irpin.

Higher educational establishments of our country fall into three main types. The first type includes the universities and institutes where there are only full-time students, which receive state grants. Students who do not live at home get accommodation in the hostels.

The second and third types of higher schools provide educational facilities for factory and office workers who combine work with studies. The second type of higher education in establishments includes evening faculties and evening higher schools for those who study in their spare time.

The third type covers extra-mural higher schools where students take correspondence courses. Every year extra-mural students receive from 30 to 40 days' leave to prepare for their exams.

The diplomas by the evening faculties and extra-mural higher schools have the same value as the diplomas of all other institutes and universities.

My future speciality is hotel and restaurant business. The course of training of hotel and restaurant manager takes 5 years of studying. The senior-year students are taught disciplines connected with their future qualification. These disciplines are: foreign-economic activity, chemistry, computer science, microbiology, foreign languages, theoretical basis of restaurant product technology, processes and devices of food manufactures, etc.

Future specialists in hotel business should know well how to run room rental businesses and how to set room rates, monitor income and expenses, and supervise other staff. A contemporary specialist in this sphere should also observe workers performance to make sure that company rules and procedures are being followed, answer questions about hotel policies and services, resolve customers' complaints, and arrange telephone answering service and mail delivery. As a rule, hotel manager should greet and register guests, inspect hotel for cleanliness, assign duties to workers and schedule shifts and hire staff.

Future specialist in restaurant business should know well how to estimate food consumption and schedule delivery of fresh food and beverages. Restaurant managers resolve customers' complaints about food quality or service, direct cleaning of kitchen and dining areas to maintain sanitation standards, monitor actions of staff and customers to ensure that health and safety standards and liquor regulations are obeyed.

On graduating from the university we'll be able to work at any hotel or restaurant as a hotel manager or a restaurant manager.

I like my future qualification because it's very interesting, creative and challenging. We have a chance to enjoy dealing with people. We need to be calm and resourceful having this speciality. For a job like this a contemporary specialist has to be also a sociable person and to be diplomatic.

MY FUTURE CAREER. APPLYING FOR A NEW POSITION

In different countries, different conventions apply to the process of job application and interviews. In most parts of the world, it's common to submit a typed or laserprinted CV (curriculum vitae – British English) or resume (American English). This contains all the unchanging information about you: your education, background and work experience. This usually accompanies a letter of application, which in some countries is expected to be handwritten, not wordprocessed. A supplementary information sheet containing information relevant to this particular job may also be required, though this is not used in some countries.

Many companies expect all your personal information to be entered on a standard application form.

Unfortunately, no two application forms are alike, and filling in each one may present unexpected difficulties.

Some personnel departments believe that the CV and application letter give a better impression of a candidate then a form.

There are different kinds of interviews: traditional one-to-one interviews, panel interviews where one or more candidate are interviewed by a panel of interviewers and even 'deep-end' interviews where applicants have to demonstrate how they can cope in actual business situations. The atmosphere of an interview may vary from the informal to the formal and interviewers may take a friendly, neutral or even hostile approach.

Different interviewers use different techniques and the only rules that applicants should be aware of may be 'Expect the unexpected' and 'Be yourself'!

Progress interviews are interviews where employees have a chance to review the work they are doing and to set objectives for the future. Such interviews usually take place after a new employee has been working with a company for several months, and after that they may take place once or twice a year.

In different countries, and in different trades and different grades, the salary that goes with a job may be only part of the package: extra benefits like a company car or cheap housing loans, bonuses paid in a 'thirteenth month', company pension schemes, free canteen meals, long holidays or flexible working hours may all contribute to the attractiveness of a job.

CURRICULUM VITAE

The Curriculum Vitae (CV) is a summary of your personal details, achievements and experience, and should be presented – preferably on a single sheet of A4 paper – in such a way that a prospective employer can quickly and easily assess your quality and suitability. It should be typed and structured under relevant headings. You must be prepared to insert additional sections if you think they are necessary, and omit any which are not relevant to your own background and experience.

Here are some tips for preparing CVs:

• Don't include too much information. The employer must want to find out more about you

- Always address your letter to an individual if possible. You might ring the company to establish the name and position of the appropriate person.
- Present a positive image emphasize things you have done and competences you have demonstrated.
- Include information on team or group activities, situations where you have demonstrated initiative, relevant academic, vocational or professional training.
- Exclude comments on your physical appearance, politics, religion or other possibly contentious subjects.
- Do not submit a CV which contains any errors. Make sure all spelling, punctuation and grammar is correct, and keeps a copy of the CV.
  - Keep it simple and clear one page, two pages at most.
  - Avoid pronoun "I". Use action words which vividly bring your CV to life.
  - Don't sign or date the CV.
  - Always send an original of your CV, don't send a copy.
- Keep copies of CVs on file for future reference. Once you have a job, update your CV on a regular basis.

Types of accommodation

The hotels and catering industry is often treated separately from the tourist industry, and certainly the training for both is very distinct. Its primary function is to provide tourists with an accommodation and, to a lesser degree, food. So it is often referred to as a hospitality industry. The hospitality, tourism and leisure industries have become increasingly important in terms of economies and employment throughout the world. Travel and hotels have always been closely related. In Europe and America, inns and taverns were spaced along the roads at the distance a horse could travel in a day. The traveller usually had to share his bed with another person, and as many as four other persons in some remote areas. The old fashioned inns, however, did provide food and shelter for both men and horses and therefore became a symbol of hospitality. Indeed, the word inn has been used recently by many modern hotels and motels. A hotel is a temporary home for people who are travelling. In a hotel the traveller can rest and have meals, either on the premises or nearby. The hotel may also offer facilities for recreation, such as a swimming pool, a golf course, or a beach. Very often the hotel also provides free space for the traveller's means of transportation. All of these services are designed to accommodate the traveller, so the hotel business is often referred to as the accommodation industry. The world motel was created by combining "motor" and "hotel". When automobiles were first used for travelling, flimsy and inexpensive tourist cabins were built along the roads. Then, as people demand greater comfort, the cabins were replaced by tourist courts and then by the modern motel, offering services comparable to the traditional hotels. All hotels do not serve the same clientele, that is, the same kind of guests. It is possible to place hotels in four broad categories. The first is the commercial hotel, which provides services essentially for transients, many of them travelling on business. Many city hotels and motels fall into this group. The second category is resort hotels. They are located in vocation areas and often provide recreational facilities of their own as well. The third type of hotels aims its services largely at the convention trade. Conventions are meetings of various business of professional groups held on a regular basis. The fourth category is resident hotels. People who do not wish to keep house themselves can rent accommodations on a seasonal basis or even permanently in many hotels. No firm distinction exists between the different kinds of hotels. In large cities one hotel may offer all types of service. Even a small motel may have banquet rooms and meeting rooms in addition to its accommodations for transients. Many resort hotels are also designed with complete convention facilities. Another way of categorizing hotels is by the quality of service they offer. At the top are the luxury hotels, which generally offer their guests the greatest comfort and convenience possible. At the bottom are those that provide merely a place to sleep. In between these two extremes are establishments offering a wide range of service and comfort. The system of rating hotels according to quality is widely used in France and other countries. This system puts the top hotels in a special "deluxe" category, with others receiving from five stars to one star or "A's". The standard features include private bathrooms, room telephones, recreational facilities and so on. The difference in quality between hotels is not entirely a matter of equipment and furnishings. The proportion of employees to guests and/or guest rooms is also a matter of prime importance. In general, the accommodations industry is labour-intensive, that is, it employs a large number of people to perform its services. In a luxury hotel, there may be three employees for every guest room. In a large commercial hotel in a big city, the ratio is usually closer to one employee per guest room. A small hotel, family-owned and operated, may have only three employees per ten rooms and hire a maid to do the housekeeping chores. Obviously, the services offered by a small hotel will be far more restricted than those provided by a luxury hotel. A hotel that prides itself on its quality of service also maintains high standards of performance.

II. Answer the following questions.

1) What is the primary function of the hotels and catering industry? 2) Why have the hospitality and leisure businesses become so important? 3) How did they develop? 4) What is a hotel? 5) What accommodation services do hotels provide? 6) How did motels appear? 7) How are hotels categorized in terms of their clients? 8) What is the difference between commercial hotels and resort hotels? 9) What do hotels for the convention trade aim their services at? 10) Who are resident hotels for? 11) Why is there no firm distinction between different kinds of hotels? 12) What other system of hotel rating do you know? 13) What does the quality service mean? 14) Why is the accommodations industry labour-intensive? 15) How are services in a small hotel different from those in a luxury hotel? 16) In what case can a hotel pride itself on its quality of service?

THE MOST BEAUTIFUL HOTEL IN THE WORLD

The Burj Al Arab is a luxury hotel in Dubai, United Arab Emirates. The name is Arabic for "Tower of the Arabs". The Burj had the top 5 architects in Europe to design it. At 321 metres, it is the tallest building used exclusively as a hotel. The Burj Al Arab stands on an artificial island 280 metres out from Jumeirah beach, and is connected to the mainland by a private curving bridge. The entrance on mainland includes an elaborate water park. The Burj is an iconic structure, designed to symbolize Dubai's urban transformation.

The Burj has become the international symbol for Dubai. As Tom Wright, the architect, stated, "The client wanted a building that would become an iconic or symbolic statement for Dubai; this is very similar to Sydney with its Opera House, or Paris with the Eiffel Tower. It needed to be a building that would become synonymous with the name of the country."

Construction of Burj Al Arab began in 1994. It was built to resemble the sail of a dhow, a type of Arabian vessel. Two "wings" spread in a V to form a vast "mast", while the space between them is enclosed in a massive atrium.

The architect and engineering consultant for the project was Atkins, the UK's largest multidisciplinary consultancy. The hotel cost $650 million to build.

The Burj is a member of the Leading Hotels of the World. Burj Al Arab does not have rooms; it has 202 suites, each one arranged over two floors. Each suite has its own concierge and butler assigned. Ranging from a capacious 169 sq. mts to an astonishing 780 sq. mts in size, the floor to ceiling glass windows offer simply breathtaking views of the Arabian Gulf.

Rates start at $2000 USD per night and go up to $7000+ per night! It costs $150 U.S. just to get in the gate to look at this place! Decorated with lavish textures and exuberant colors, each suite features a sumptuous living and dining area, state of the art entertainment system and office facilities. Their sheer opulence in every tiny detail is underpinned with technology that does everything from controlling the inch Plasma screen TV to closing the curtains.

In addition to a dining and living area, each suite has an office area completed with laptop, Internet access, private fax, printer and copier. Hidden network of advanced technology - lighting, curtains and air-conditioning at the touch of a button.

Surrounded by white beaches and the blue waters of the Arabian Gulf, you can choose from a variety of activities while staying at Burj Al Arab. Relax in the superb outdoor pool or soak up the rays on the private beach for your exclusive use. Alternatively, take time out in the spacious airy gymnasium boasting of the very latest equipment and personal trainers on hand.

IV. You are a manager of the LUXE hotel and you have received the letter of complaint from a regular customer of your hotel chain which is given below. Write an answer. Remember to use formal style and appropriate constructions making your language more polite.

Dear Mr. ***,

My husband and I recently got married and stayed at the LUXE hotel on our way back from our honeymoon. We were traveling from Palm Beach. In the past, I have had positive experiences when staying at the LUXE hotels, however, this time we had an unpleasant experience. When we got to our room, we noticed that the air conditioner was not properly cooling the room. We called the front desk staff. She was very impolite and said, "We'll get to it when we can." We never had anyone check it out, and were not offered a new room. We were very hot, but managed to sleep okay. Also, we were very disappointed with the breakfast the next morning. The bacon was very greasy and cold. There was no sugar for the coffee. I am writing you this letter, Mr. ***, to let you know of the poor service at your hotel. I am giving you a chance to provide a refund. I would like to hear your side of the story, and allow a chance for you to comment, before posting a review on-line. I have enclosed a copy of our receipt. You may call me at +** *** 07 -07-007, or email me at annajones@gmail.com.

chain-operated hotel готель з мережею

The head of a hotel may go by any of a variety of different title, such as general manager, managing director, or resident manager. We will refer to this person as the manager. The manager is responsible for establishing the policies and procedures of operation for the hotel and for seeing that they are carried out. In other words, he is the boss. In a small hotel, he may be the owner or coowner; in a large hotel, he is probably a professional hotelman, or hotelier, to use a French word that is popular among hotel people. A hotel manager is a business executive and this means that he must have a knowledge of accounting, tax and business law, sales and promotion, public relations, as well as a command of the traditional services and functions of the hotel itself. In earlier times, experience alone was considered the appropriate background to attain the position of manager. Today, however, many universities and special schools give courses in hotel management and administration. The first specialized hotel schools were located in Switzerland, a country with a long tradition both of tourism and of superior hotels. Swiss hotel schools still provide education that emphasizes work experience rather than theory and business administration. The personal influence of the manager varies from hotel to hotel according to the policies of the owners. In a chainoperated hotel, for example, the manager usually must work within a specific, tightly coordinated framework. In other hotels, he may exercise much greater control, not only in carrying out policies, but also in setting them. Many hotels become famous because of the distinctive personality that is given to them by their managers. In a very real sense, the manager is the host who offers the hospitality of this establishment to his guests. In seeing that of the activities of the hotel run smoothly and efficiently, the manager carries out routine spot checks, often on a daily basis, of different aspects of the hotel's operation. He also deals with unusual problems as they occur. In a large hotel, the manager coordinates the work of the department heads who supervise housekeeping, advertising and promotion, food services, and the rest of the operation. The manager's working relationship with these people contributes significantly to the smooth functioning of the hotel. Hiring and training are two other vital responsibilities of the manager. The personality, experience and expertise of every employee in a hotel is a matter of importance in a business where courtesy is one of the major services. The reference given by job applicants must be carefully checked, and a watchful eye must be kept on their performance after they have been hired. Continuing in-house training programmes, either formal or informal, are customary in large hotels in order to maintain the standards of the establishment. Training in the fundamentals may extend to all the employees, especially in new hotels. The great increase in tourism in recent years has resulted in the construction of many hotels which are located in areas where local customs differ greatly from those of the hotel's expected customers. In such cases, it is essential to give intensive training to employees in every job category in the hotel before it opens. This training usually includes a course in the languages of the expected customers. In the addition to the manager, many hotels also include one or more assistant managers on the staff. When there are several, they are often assigned to different shifts: one for the morning and early afternoon, one for the late afternoon and evening, and one for the late evening and early morning hours. The assistant managers frequently have a desk in the lobby near the reception area, since they deal with routine problems such as unsatisfactory room assignments or overbookings. They refer more serious problems to the manager or the appropriate department head. The assistant managers are usually in training for more responsible jobs in hotel management. The management and administration of a hotel have a dual responsibility. First, they must return a profit to the owners who are often themselves the managers in a small hotel. Second, they must deliver the services and quality that the guests expect. Fortunately, these two responsibilities usually work together, that is, the greater satisfaction the guests receive, the greater the prospects that the establishment will be financially successful.

VII. Read what different managers say about their responsibilities, make notes and answer the questions.

- 1) Let me start by saying I'm General Manager. That is to say, I have control over the whole of the operation. As the General Manager, I must make sure that all our hotels and business outlets are fulfilling the overall vision of the company as a whole, and making money, too. We mustn't forget that our aim is to make money. The company structure works like this. The House Manager is directly answerable to me. He or she is responsible for all six in-house departments, and their job is to keep good information flows between the various departments. We can't allow departments to be run in isolation of each. They must also make sure that the hotel stays profitable. They have a great deal of freedom to make decisions and don't have to check with me about day-to-day issues, although we are in regular contact by fax. Of course, the House Manager should use his discretion about when to contact me. In our organization, the Resident Manager has control over the customer-contact side of the business. It is the Resident Manager's job to ensure close, efficient liaison between the two sectors under his control, that is to say Front-of-House Operations and Housekeeping.
- 2) I'm the Front Office Manager. I report to the Resident Manager on a regular basis but I can make a lot of daily operational decisions myself. I like the responsibility the hotel allows me to have. I have to supervise Front-of-House Operations and to do that efficiently. I need to have the assistance of the Head Receptionist, who looks after the reception area in general and has a good deal of contact with both staff and guests. We are concerned with day-to-day issues such as guests' comfort and security, but we also get involved in training and staff development, so there's plenty to do on that side, too.
- 3) I'm hoping to become Head Housekeeper in the near future. I've been Housekeeper for the executive suites for a year now and there's a good chance I'll take over when Mrs Jones leaves at the end of the year. At the moment, I give orders to the chambermaids and cleaners personally, but I'm looking forward to getting more involved in training and planning. I know I shouldn't say this, but I think I'll be pretty good at it.
- 1) What is the main responsibility of the General Manager? 2) How does he understand the key objectives of his position? 3) Why is it essential to keep good information flows between the departments? 4) Are heads of departments free to make decisions? 5) What principles do they function on? 6) What is the job of the Resident Manager? 7) What is the Front Office Manager responsible for? 8) What are the chances for promotion for the assistant managers? 9) Does it make them enthusiastic about their job?

VIII. Think and answer:

1) What is the best way to attain the position of hotel manager in Ukraine? 2) What is more important for being a good hotel manager: good education or experience? 3) Do you agree that training in the fundamentals of every job should extend to all the employees? Why do you think so? 4) Why are hiring and training employees two vital responsibilities of the manager? 5) Why do Ukrainian hotels differ in many ways from international standards? Is it vital to overcome these differences? Why (not)? 6) What is your overall vision of further development of hotel business in Ukraine? 7) What do you know about the atmosphere in Ukrainian hotels? 8) Why is it so important to create friendly and warm atmosphere in a hotel? Is it possible to do it in a big hotel? 9) What is more important for a manager: personal touch or efficient performance? Give your reasons. 10) How do you see the future of hospitality business in Ukraine?

IX. Decide whether the following statements are true or false. 1) The manager of a hotel is never responsible for establishing operating policies; he only carries out policies that have been set by others. 2) The only way to become the manager of a hotel is by working one's way up through all the different departments in a hotel. 3) A student in a hotel school usually studies courses in business administration as well as in hotel operations. 4) A wise and creative manager often gives a distinctive personality to the hotel that he runs. 5) Unusual problems never occur in a hotel, so it is always possible to follow a detailed manual of procedures. 6) Once hotel employees have been hired, no further training or supervision is necessary to see that they are doing their jobs satisfactorily. 7) Employee training is particularly important for many new hotels because the customs of the staff and the expected guests may differ sharply. 8) Assistant managers are often trainees for more responsible management positions. 9) A hotel that satisfies its guests is likely to be financially successful as well.

FOOD INDUSTRY IN UKRAINE

Food industry is one of the leading branches of the national economy which combines production and industrial processing of raw materials of plant and animal origin and selling of finished goods. Its main sub-branches are meat and dairy, oil and fats, fruit and vegetable packing industry. Foodstuffs make up 59% of the total consumer goods volume. Among other countries of the world Ukraine has the most favourable natural and human potential for its development, promising home consumer market and large export potential.

The food industry in Ukraine started as a branch of mechanical production in the second half of the 19th century. Refinery production of sugar began somewhat earlier. The first sugar refinery in Ukraine was set up in 1824 in the village of Troshchine, Kaniv District, near Kyiv. The mining method of salt extraction was developed at the end of the 19th century in the Donbass (at Artemivsk and Slovyansk).

The further development of the Ukrainian food industry was connected with the production of granulated sugar, flour, groats, butter, confectionery, alcohol, beer and tobacco. A number of food enterprises were set up to produce meat, milk, bread, canned foods, margarine and other products to raise the population's standard of living. Highly-qualified food industry specialists appeared and more progressive forms of labour organization were introduced. Thus, in a relatively short period a powerful food industry was created in Ukraine. But it was largely destroyed during the Great Patriotic War.

In post-war years thousands of food enterprises were restored and reconstructed. Numerous new plants were built. That made it possible to increase the production of foodstuffs which play an important role in the human diet. The sugar industry retained its position as a leading food industry in Ukraine.

In the course of time, however, the level of food supply and the assortment of products have shown a downward trend when the prices grew by many times. The adoption of the state 'Food Program didn't help to cope with the problem.

In the period of stabilizing the market economy of Ukraine it is food producing and processing industry that is developing most dynamically. The majority of food plants and factories of Ukraine are private enterprises. Owing to the target economic policy and through attracting local and foreign investments by cooperation the Ukrainian food processing enterprises began to use widely progressive high technologies, advanced technological processes, highly productive up-to-date technological equipment and installations, complex mechanization and automation of production, and advanced production experience (know-how). As a result the Ukrainian foodstuffs grew in quality and quantity, became more versatile and competitive.

At present Ukraine is one of the world's biggest producers of sugar. Many Ukrainian food products won the world's recognition. The focus of our food industry today is health products, fortified and functional food. More and more GM (genetically modified)-free products appear on the home food market to meet the demand of the population.

Note. GM food is created by taking DNA (desoxyribonucleic acid) from one organism and putting it into another.

Catering is the provision of food and drink and it is divided into two basic sectors: commercial businesses, where the main aim is to make a profit, and noncommercial businesses (welfare), where the main aim is to provide a nonprofit-making social service. Commercial catering is usually found in hotels, restaurants, pubs, bars, cafes or fast food outlets, where you can eat in or take away the food and beverages you buy. But commercial catering can also be found in the transport industry in places such as railway stations, airports or motorway service stations and on ships and trains, where the place you eat is called a buffet car and offers self-service, or on aeroplanes, where on the other hand there is waiter service provided by the cabin crew. In other words, whenever people travel any distance for work or pleasure, they are able to eat and drink thanks to the catering service provided. Catering at private events, such as social events or gatherings and wedding receptions, or public events including rock concerts or football matches is also considered commercial. Welfare catering ranges from providing food for workers at a subsidised price in factory or office block canteens, to catering in hospitals, schools or prisons, where people pay nothing or very little for the service.

II. Answer the questions

1. Which basic sectors is catering divided into? 2. Where can commercial catering be found in? 3. What does welfare catering range?

Text 2

I. Read the text and answer the questions.

Businesses focusing on providing catering services are varied and multiple. Restaurants offer customers a range of food, drink and service options. At the high end of the market there are a la carte restaurants, so-called because of the type of menu which lists and prices all items individually and prepares dishes to order. Service is generally of a very high standard with waiters/waitresses as well as specialist bar staff and wine waiters and the atmosphere is formal. Within this category, gourmet restaurants are the most expensive, reflecting the high quality of food and beverages and the fact they often have recommendations from important food critics and organisations, which are highly prized. Table d'hôte menu restaurants with fixed-priced menus, a set number of courses with choices within each course, are a cheaper alternative. Items on the menu are ready at the same time, rather than made to order. This kind of restaurant is often family-run with a more informal atmosphere. Examples of specialist restaurants are steakhouses, seafood or vegetarian restaurants. There are also ethnic restaurants providing food and drink from a particular country. The most widespread of these are Italian, Indian and Chinese restaurants. Both ethnic and speciality restaurants can have either an a la carte, table d'hôte or a combination of both kinds of menus. Nowadays, many restaurants are part of a regional, national or international chain, so menus, service, ambiance and cost are unified and you know exactly what to expect. This is particularly true of fast food outlets, many of which specialise in a particular type or region of cuisine and prepare food which is served and eaten quickly. These can either be eat-in restaurants, which are mostly self-service or takeaway restaurants where you buy cooked food to eat somewhere else, or sometimes both. Examples include pizzerias, kebab or fish and chip shops. In addition to restaurants, cafes, coffee bars, bars and pubs also provide catering although the focus may be more on drinking than eating. Cafes and coffee bars serve reasonably priced hot and cold drinks and light meals or snacks and are usually only open during the day. Bars and pubs are always open at night but increasingly they are serving food and drinks during the day too. In pubs the food is usually home-made and traditional, whereas bars tend to offer a European-style menu of salads and sandwiches.

II. Answer the questions.

1 What do restaurants offer customers? 2 What is highly prized by gourmet restaurants? 3 What are the main differences between table d'hôte and a la carte menus? 4 What kind of food can you eat at a specialist restaurant? 5 Which are the most popular ethnic restaurants? 6 Why do you know what to expect in chain restaurants? 7 What is the main characteristic of fast food restaurants? 8 When are cafes and coffee shops usually open? 9 How does pub and bar food differ?

Food and beverage service is a major factor in hotel operation. In some large hotels, the income derived from this source actually exceeds income from room rentals. The food and beverage income in many hotels is increased by providing service for banquets and conventions. Virtually every modern hotel offers some form of food and beverage service. In some, facilities are available only for a continental breakfast that is a light meal of bread or rolls and coffee, while others have a small coffee shop or restaurant on the premises. Because of the large proportion of income contributed by a hotel's bars and restaurants, the food and beverage manager is a key member of the management staff. He has the overall responsibility for planning the food and drink operation and purchasing the hundreds of items that are necessary for the restaurants and bars. Because food can spoil quickly, ordering supplies is a daily routine. In a very large establishment, two people may be assigned this task: one to order food and the other to order wines and spirits. The purchase and care of some items, such as table linens, or napery, or aprons for the kitchen help, must be closely coordinated with the housekeeping department. The food and beverage manager's staff may also include a storekeeper, who stores and issues food, beverages, and restaurant and kitchen supplies. The kitchen itself is a separate kingdom within the hotel. The head cook, who is almost always called by the French word chef, is the boss of this area. The chef is responsible for planning the menus (the food that is being served on a particular day), and for supervising the work of the other chefs and cooks. In very large or elaborate setups, the head cook is called the executive chef, and his responsibilities are largely those of a manager. He plans, purchases and frequently coordinates the operation of several restaurants. Depending on the size of the establishment, several assistant chefs report to the chef. These include a sauce chef, a salad chef, a vegetable chef, and so on. Under the chefs are the cooks who actually cook the food and then place it on the plate for the waiters to pick up. Under the cooks' supervision are the kitchen helpers who peel potatoes, cut up vegetables, and bring food from the storeroom to the kitchen. The kitchen staff also includes dishwashers, even in a kitchen equipped with electrical appliances, since pots and pans usually need special attention, and someone must load and unload the machines. In the restaurant, as well as in the kitchen, there are also different kinds of jobs. The person who seats the guests is called a captain or maître d' (short for maître d'hôtel), or a hostess, if a woman. In restaurants with a very formal style of service, the captain also takes the guests' orders. The meals are served by waiters or waitresses. In less formal restaurants, the waiters and waitresses take orders and serve the meals. Most restaurants also employ busboys who pour water, clear and set tables, and perform other similar chores. In an elaborate restaurant, there is often an employee called the wine steward, or sommelier, who takes orders for wine and sometimes for other alcoholic drinks. Finally, there are cashiers who receive payment or signed bills from the guests. When the guest puts his restaurant bill on his hotel account, this information must be passed along to the accounting office as quickly as possible. In additional to a restaurant, most hotels also have a bar or cocktail lounge where drinks are served. Bartenders work behind the bar which is a long counter. Note that the word "bar" is used both to denote the room in which the drinks are served and the counter itself. They mix drinks and serve them to the customers at the bar. Additional waiters or waitress are needed to serve customers who are seated at tables. In a very busy bar, one bartender may fill orders only for the waiters and waitresses while others take care of the guests at the bar. The bar or cocktail lounge may also offer food service, although it usually simpler than the food served in the hotel dining room. Fast food, such as sandwiches or hamburgers, is customary.

Providing meals and drinks in the guests' rooms is another service extended by most hotels. Room service is ordered by telephone from a menu that is placed in each room. The menu itself in some cases is the same as the one for the dining room, but more often it is simplified to make for easier preparation and service. Special employees take the orders and special waiters carry them to rooms. To cut down on orders for ice and soft drinks, many hotels nowadays have machines on each floor to dispense these items. Room service in most hotels closes down at the same time the kitchen does, normally ten o'clock and midnight. Some hotels, however, are prepared to provide sandwiches even during the late-night hours. Some luxury hotels have small kitchens or pantries on each floor that are used either for warming food or for preparing breakfasts. More room service orders are for breakfast than for any other meal. In some hotels, the guest can order breakfast before he goes to bed by filling in a slip which he leaves outside his door. The meal is then served at the time the guest has specified. Even in hotels with more than one restaurant, there is usually just one central kitchen. The special types of food served in the various restaurants are normally prepared by different chefs and cooks rather than in separate kitchens. Like the housekeeping department, the food and beverage department needs additional space for storage of the many items that must be kept on hand for the restaurants and bars. These items include not only the food and beverage themselves, but items such as table linens, dishes, knives, forks, spoons, plate warmers, trays, ashtrays, aprons and dish towels. One food and beverage facility that is often not connected with the main hotel kitchen is the snack bar. The snack bar is a small unit that provides fast-order food and drink service to guests who are using the hotel's swimming pool or some other recreational facility. Snack bars are a prominent feature of resort hotels. Where the recreational facilities are in great demand, the snack bar often has its own staff of cooks, usually of the short-order variety, and waiters and waitresses. Hotels generally employ a large number of workers in proportion to the number of guests. The restaurant business as a whole is one of the most labor-intensive of all industries, and this is true whether the restaurant is in a hotel or not. Much of the activity in connection with food and beverage service is invisible to the guests, but many of the employees the department have frequent contact with them. These especially include the dining-room and room service personnel. They must adhere to the same standards of hospitality and courtesy as all other employees who meet and talk with the guests in the hotel.

And even small kitchens have spoons and whisks. They are for mixing food. After food is done, chefs use spatulas or ladles to serve food.

What is a chef's most important tool? No chef enters a kitchen without a knife roll. This contains all of the knives a chef needs during a restaurant service. The most important knife in that set is a chef's knife. Many cooks like using one of these knives because it can perform a number of tasks.

Humans are the only creatures on Earth that don't eat the majority of their food as they find it.

Sometimes out of necessity and sometimes simply to enhance flavor, humans generally prepare their food before eating it. Food preparation is a broad topic, involving all of the steps that occur between obtaining raw ingredients and consuming them as food.

The first step in food preparation is cleaning the food. The need is obvious for things like meat, which can contain harmful bacteria if not cleaned properly. Cleaning is just as important for other ingredients as well, including fruit, vegetables and grains. Most food products we consume today are treated with chemicals to ensure the survival of the crop. These chemicals, dust, natural bacteria and trace chemicals from insects or birds should be washed off the produce before consumption.

While preparing food cooks perform a great number of operations. They peel and mince the onions, chop the spinach, julienne the tomatoes, dice the peppers, grate the cheese, slice the mushrooms. It is rather important to place all of prepared items in separate bowls and seal with plastic wrap. Then it is necessary to place all of them on a cart and store in the cooler.

Once the ingredients are clean and cut, we can get to the stage of cooking. Dry-heat cooking involves applying heat to something without liquid. Roasting, broiling, grilling and pan-frying are all forms of dry-heat cooking. On the other hand moist-heat cooking uses steam or liquid as a part of the cooking. It includes techniques like steaming, boiling, or pouching.

Cooking is the stage of food preparation that most people associate with the culinary art. The food must be safe to eat; but it must also combine various flavors and textures in a pleasing way. In this way it is a perfect combination of art and science.
